LOCAL ITEMS.

THE AUTUMNAL EQUINOX.—The invisible and intangible line which separates summer from winter, marking the cessation of the one. and the commencement of the other, is at hand. On the 22d, according to the almanac. "the sun crosses the line," and summer, in name, ends. In this city and neighborhood there have been no very remarkable occurrerces during the summer-ro violent hail storms as in some sections; no severe drought as in other parts-it has been remarked as a season of good health. Alexandria shared the "heated term" in common with other cities, though enjoying in a great degree immunity from sun stroke, whereby so many were elsewhere strick on down. The only special plague here seems to have been mosquitoes. Business has been comparativly brisk; probably as much so as in any city of equal advantages in the State. A number of substantial buildings have been erected, many of them tasteful and elegant, and equal to any heretofore put up. In the neighborhood the crops have been, if not bountiful, at least fair, and the market has been tolerably well supplied with every thing save fruit, which was a failure here as elsewhere. "Summer is gone on swallows' wings," and as fall sets in, it is hoped and expected, that the trade of the city will be equal to its deserts. Persons from the country, purchasing for country retail trade will find, if they take the trouble to look for themselves, that what is said in this paper about the commercial resources and advantages of Alexandria, is not simply put in to "fil up," but that the city merchants, manufactur ers, mechanics, professional men and others whose advertisements reach them, are prepared to execute commissions, fill orders as prompt ly, and to as great an extent, and to as large amounts, at as low figures as those of any city accessible to those desiring to purchase.

ALEXANDRIA. - A gentleman connected wit a large Baltimore house, who has been on buyers indifferent; offerings of 1108 bushels trip through the upper counties, seeking business for his firm, on his return, through here the other day, informed one of our merchants that "drumming," for Baltimore, was now as up-hill business, as the farmers and country merchants had found out that they could pur chase fertilizers and heavy goods as cheap in Alexandria as in his city, and were saving the additional expenses by buying in this place. What is said of fertilizers and heavy goods, may also be said of nearly all kinds of goods and merchandize. If the country people, and especially the merchants in the interior of the State, will but give Alexandria a fair trial, they | coal region of Pennsylvania, carrying from will find out that they can do just as well here as by going to the North, and at the same time they will be assisting the commercial prosperity of a city within the boundaries of their

COAL TRADE. - There was shipped over the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad during the week ending the 12th inst., from the mines at Cumberland to Baltimore, 15,508 19 tons of coal .-During the same period 6,692,06 tons were dispatched from Cumberland to Georgetown and 32a5 cents per lb gross. CHESAPEAKE & Ohio CANAL.—The Chesapeake & Ohio Canal is again in good navigable order and coal is being shipped rapidly. The breach near the tunnel, mentioned last week. was of a more serious character than then represented. The embarkment was washed out for a distance of one hundred and twenty-five feet to a depth of thirty feet, and the bottom of the canal was also washed out several feet in depth. The work of repairs, however, under the superintendence of R. M. Sprigg, Esq., was prosecuted with an energy that deserves creditable mention, and boats were able to pass

Auction Sales .- For auction sales of val uable real estate to take place to-morrow, se advertisements in to day's Gazette. Valuable investments can be made and good bargains obtained. So bear it in mind on Monday next at Fairfax C. H., several tracts of land will be offered for sale at auction, and as the value of Fairfax land is daily improving, this will be favorable time for investment. See advertise-

BLACK CROOK-The steamer Arrow carried a large party to Washington last night to witness the Black Crook. She returned a little after midnight with all on board pleased with their trip. She will make another trip tomorrownight. The matinee performance to-morrow evening, from appearances, will be well attended by persons from this city. See advertisements in another column.

TELEGRAPH LINE TO LEESBURG -It is stated that arrangements are being projected by the energetic President of the Alexandria, Loudoun and Hampshire Railroad, by which Leesburg will soon be placed in direct telegraphic communication with this city. The consummation of this design will afford great convenience to many persons at both ends of the line.

THE CHESAPEAKE AND DELAWARE CANAL -The navigation of this canal, which has been suspended by injuries from the late freshet for some ten days, is now resumed, the canal having been put in order by energetic efforts to effect the repairs. The packets plying between Philadelphia and this city have resumed their regular trips.

DISTURBANCE. - A considerable commotion was created on the lower end of King street, late last night, after the arrival of the steamer Arrow, from Washington, by a fight which occurred there between two young men who had just returned from witnessing the Black Crook -neither party was much hurt, and both were personal service, &c. arrested by the watch.

THEFT OF LUMBER.-A pile of lumber belonging to Mr. William Gregory was stolen last night, and carted away from a lot on Pitt street between Queen and Princess streets .-The thieves concealed their track so well that 179, King street. they remain as yet undiscovered.

A., L. & H. R. R.-The extension of the Alexandria, Loudoun and Hampshire road to Mercier's Station is progressing rapidly. The track is already laid to within a distance of one mile from Bowie's, which is only two miles this side of Mercier's, and, as a sufficiency of iron to complete the track to that point has been ordered, and is now on the way here, the rails will be laid, and trains running, it is confidently expected, before the expiration of the autumn.

COLORED EXCURSION. - The steamer Winnisimmet, with a colored excursion party, among who were the colored Zouaves, on board and accompaned by a colored band that played "Rally round the flag," stopped at the Prince street dock of this city, on her way from Washington to the White House this morning.

LOCOMOTIVE. -The lessees of the W. A. & G. railroad have recently purchased in New York city a splendid passenger and freight car engine, just from the hancs of the manufacturers, to supply the place of the Augusta, lately destroyed by the explosion at the Orange depot in this city.

NEW LINE OF STEAMERS .- It is stated that a line of propellors is about to be established. to run between Washington and the Schuyikil Washington Cumberland coal, and returning with that produced from the Schuylkill mines.

COLD WEATHER. - A most decided change has taken place in the temperature of the atmosphere, and last night and early this morning, fires, which many persons had kindled, were by no means uncomfortable. Flannels have been donned, and fall suits ordered. PERSONAL .- Richard M. Smith, esq., was
